THERE WAS A ROSE.

"There was a rose," she said—
"Like other roses, perhaps, to you;
Nine years ago it was faint and red,
Away in the cold dark dew,
On the dwarf-bush where it grew.

"Never any rose before
Was like that rose, very well I know;
Never another rose any more
Will blow as that rose did blow,
When the wet wind shook it so.

"What do I want?—Ah, what?
Why, I want that rose, that wee one rose,
Only that rose. And that rose is not
Anywhere just now! God knows
Where all the old sweetness goes.

"I want that rose so much;
I would take the world back there to the night
Where I saw it blush in the grass, to touch
It once in that fair fall light,
And only once, if I might.

"But a million marching men
From the North and the South would arise?
And the dead—would have to die again!
And the women's widowed cries
Would trouble anew the skies.

"No matter. I would not care;
Were it not better that this should be?
The sorrow of many the many bear—
Mine is too heavy for me,
And I want that rose, you see!"

LETTER FROM ROME.

[Señor De Celis, editor of La Cronica, of this city, has favored the HERALD with the following translation of an interesting letter from his paper's correspondent at Rome:]

I have for a long time ceased to give the readers of your paper any news from this interesting old capital; but, much against my will, my extraordinary occupations and misfortune in my family have, until now, prevented me from keeping up my regular correspondence with our dear Cronica.

I am going now to take a fresh start on a subject which I hope will prove very agreeable to your intelligent readers; I mean the Italian-American schools, with which the New World so largely contributes to regenerate the Old Continent. Mr. Van Meter, of New York, was the founder of the Italian-American schools which were established in this city three years ago. He is a fine-looking gentleman of about fifty; of a very affable, mild disposition and manners, and one that at first sight inspires confidence and draws the affections of all who know him, especially the little ones, who not only find a benefactor in him, but a loving father as well.

It would be long and tedious to enumerate the great obstacles this generous gentleman had to surmount before he could attain the noble object of popular education—the object for which he had abandoned his distant native country; but the constancy of his nature, his vast intelligence and the love for the human race which seems to animate him, made him conquer, in a short time, all popular prejudice, ignorance, and, what is still worse, religious superstition. In this manner Mr. Van Meter was soon enabled to open two schools, one for boys and one for girls, which not only are at present in a flourishing condition, but can be set up as model schools. The object of this establishment is to bring the children up as good Christians, good citizens and more particularly as men who love humanity, in order to attain at some future day universal fraternity, which will lead to the happiness of the human race. The boy's school is located near the Vatican and is well attended, mostly by children of the poor, who heretofore lived in an almost total moral abjection. To these, besides educating them carefully, Mr. Van Meter furnishes good, substantial food.

The Girls' School occupies a magnificent hall in the ground-floor of the same house where Mr. Van Meter resides, and is frequented by about fifty girls of good families. Besides general instruction they are taught drawing, English and French, embroidery and chorus music. We had the pleasure of paying a visit to this school and noticing personally the progress achieved by these interesting young ladies, and we were particularly pleased at the frank, bright manner in which they answered our questions, showing a very remarkable efficiency in elementary education.

In addition to this, Mr. Van Meter, not being satisfied with caring for the moral and intellectual education of the children, has also provided for their physical training, and with this object in view he has selected large, airy rooms, with plenty of light and located near the gardens, so that his pupils can breathe a healthy, pure atmosphere.

The furniture in both schools is excellent, especially the benches, which are made after the same pattern as those used in your schools, and which ought to be adopted by our municipal authorities. Honor to Mr. Van Meter, benefactor of the Roman youth!

Gratitude and thanks are also due to the generous American Committees, who, with their splendid donations, assisted that gentleman in defraying the great expense annually incurred by these schools. We sincerely hope and pray that Mr. Van Meter may be enabled to open new schools next year, in order to spread instruction as much as possible among our growing youth, who stand in so much need of being regenerated.

In other letters I will treat of the commercial, industrial and artistical importance of the American and Spanish-American colonies in this Eternal City. Yours truly,

G. B. PROF. ALCIONI.

Rome, May 24, 1874.

A Deaf Man's Mistake.

Old Collamer, one of the members of our church, is extremely deaf. Last Sunday the clergyman, during his sermon, had occasion to introduce a quotation, and, as it was quite long, he brought the volume with him, and when the time came he picked up the book and began to read. We always sing the Old Hundred Doxology at our church, and Collamer, seeing the parson with the book, thought the time had come, so while the minister was reading he opened the hymn-book at the place. Just as the clergyman laid the volume down, the man sitting next to Collamer began to yawn, and Collamer, thinking he was about to sing, immediately broke into "Old Hundred" at the top of his voice. As the clergyman was just beginning "secondly," and as, of course, there was a perfect silence in the church, the effect of Collamer's vociferation was very startling. But the good old man didn't notice that anything was the matter, so he kept right on and sang the entire verse. When he concluded he observed that everybody else seemed to be quiet, except a few who were laughing; so he leaned over and said out loud to the man who yawned, "What's the matter with the congregation, anyhow? Why don't they go home?" The man turned scarlet, and the perspiration broke out all over him, for he felt that the eyes of the congregation were upon him, and he knew that he would have to yell to make Collamer hear. So he touched his lips with his finger, as a sign for the old man to keep quiet. But Collamer misunderstood the motion. "Going to sing another hymn, hey? All right!" and he began to fumble for his hymn-book again. Then the sexton sailed up the aisle, and explained matters out loud to Collamer, and that gentleman subsided, while the minister proceeded with his discourse. The elders have written Collamer a note, requesting him in future not to join in the sacred harmony. The effect is too apparent upon the ribald boys in the gallery.—[Max Adeler.

Robbing St. Peter's Treasury.

A great deal of scandal has been made over the robbery of the sum of 135,000 francs from the Treasury of St. Peter's by its Secretary, Signor Fornari. The treasury of St. Peter's is administered by four ecclesiastics—Mgr. Vitelleschi, Mgr. Riva, Mgr. Pericole and Mgr. Montani. When, a few weeks ago, they examined into the state of the funds, they were astonished to find a large sum missing, and summoned Fornari to their presence. He confessed that he had speculated with some of the money and had bought a hotel in the Via Frattina, which he hoped to rent out in such a way as to enable him to soon pay back the money he had taken. On further examination it was discovered that the large amount of 135,000 francs was gone, and in consequence the prelates said that, although they would in their charity grant a certain time to Fornari to enable him to refund what he had taken, they must remove him from his responsible position. Instead of endeavoring to repair the mischief he had done, his courage failed him and he killed himself; and so all the world knows what otherwise would have been kept secret.—[Rome Correspondence Catholic Review.

An improvement in inside window blinds was suggested to us the other day by one of our subscribers. He proposes to place the slats in a vertical rather than in a horizontal position. The effect in large halls, churches, etc., is to effectually screen the eyes from the direct glare of the external light, at the same time that the light may be freely admitted to the room. If the slats are made sufficiently wide and adjusted to stand at right angles with the sash, the room may be well lighted without any disagreeable effect either to the speaker or the audience. The gentleman referred to states that this experiment has been tried in the church at which he is an attendant, and that the result is entirely satisfactory. We regard the suggestion as a good one.—[Artisan.

The mensurator is an ingenious instrument, recently invented, for the instantaneous solution of triangles, also for illustrating most of Euclid's theorems with regard to the triangle, and likewise performing addition, substraction, rule of three, extraction of square roots, solving quadratics and simple equations and reducing to mechanism some parts of analytical geometry. Another instrument, called the cœlometer, just invented in England, illustrates celestial longitude and latitude, the phenomena of the seasons, the correspondence of the calendar with the solar year, the procession of the equinoxes, the times of sunrise at any place at any day, the position of the principal stars during the night, etc.

Butler's best days are really over here. He has no chance whatever in the State, and he has begun to know it. I don't meet a Butler man who has any pretensions to political sagacity (and I know many of this class) but says it is of no sort of use for Butler to attempt to run this Fall. The chieftain has had his opportunities and he has lost them. He went into two fights with a big blow of trumpets; he retreated from both without sounding even a small fish-horn. This Spring, as he surveyed the ground preparatory to another rally of his followers, he found that there was really nothing to rally.—[Templeton's Boston Letter.

An inventive genius with more brilliant daring than most of his predecessors, has proposed the adaption of the pneumatic tube idea to the transportation of grain from the West to the East, by means of a long pipe running between the Northwest and the sea board. He claims to have demonstrated that a pressure of two pounds to the square inch can be maintained, which will propel wheat, corn, oats, etc., at the rate of 150 or 200 miles an hour. The expense of this tunnel is to be about $5,000 a mile.—[Chicago Inter-Ocean.

CITY AND COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

WEDNESDAY.....JUNE 24, 1874.

Mineral Wealth of Southern California.

The ore taken from the quicksilver mines near Santa Barbara yields twenty per cent. of pure quicksilver. The indications are that these mines will equal in richness and extent the famous New Almaden mine in Santa Clara county. The mountains between this city and Santa Barbara are rich in mineral. The discoveries already made are but the first of many that will follow. Other than quicksilver mines will no doubt be discovered. There are ledges of gold and silver-bearing rock in those mountains, and they will soon be found and worked. The hills east of Los Angeles are full of precious metal. Gold is found in small quantities in all the gulches and flats, and experienced miners are confident good diggings will yet be found in the locality. Up on the San Gabriel river there are hundreds of acres of ground where gold is found in considerable quantities. A great deal of mining has been done in that vicinity, and a number of men are still employed there. The new mines in Holcomb Valley are yielding large wages, and new discoveries are made almost every day. Some sixty miles east of Visalia rich lodes have been recently struck and a large number of miners are already collected in that vicinity. All these discoveries go to confirm the prediction of the HERALD made sometime ago, that this portion of the State contains a vast amount of mineral wealth which only awaits the coming of the hardy miner. Southern California has never been thoroughly prospected for gold and silver.

Improvements in Los Angeles.

There never has been a time in the history of Los Angeles when the permanent improvements have been so general as now. Finer buildings have been erected than any now going up, but in every part of the city are signs of progress. New buildings — residences and business houses—are going up in every part of the city. Repairs and the enlargement of property are marked features in the rapid advancement of our city. One only has to turn his mind back one or two years to note the steady progress we are making in everything which makes a great business city; especially if we compare the old Spanish town of "The City of The Angels," as it stood six years ago, with the present Los Angeles, we can hardly realize that the two are the same. The future of Los Angeles having been secured and guaranteed, we have only to wait a few years to see here the great metropolis of Southern California, acknowledged as such, as much so as San Francisco is of the central and northern portions of our State.

THE Leader, LAURA DE FORCE GORDON'S paper, underbid the Independent for the city printing of Stockton and was awarded the contract for one year, whereat the old fossil, the Independent, vapors like an old woman herb doctor. The fact is, the Independent has long been a disgrace to Stockton, and the sooner it is buried the better for the place. We are glad to know that the Council had the honesty and good sense to award the contract to the Leader—the lowest bidder and the only live paper in the city. Mrs. GORDON is an intelligent, enterprising woman, and deserves the encouragement she has received. The Independent is a feeble monopoly tool that has earned and receives the contempt of the community in which it is published.

THE snow-sheds on the Central Pacific are constantly catching fire, and every fire costs the company from one thousand to twenty thousand dollars. There are about thirty miles of these sheds in the Sierras. Without their protection it would be impossible to operate the road in Winter, and to maintain them involves a constant outlay of money. They are built of heavy cedar timber, which, as it becomes dry, is still more liable to destruction by fire, which is always kindled by sparks from passing locomotives. A road that cannot be operated without snow-sheds is an expensive piece of property. The Southern Pacific will have a great advantage over the Central Pacific in this respect. It will need no snow-sheds.

SENATOR SARGENT, the railroad pettifogger and great high chief of the California whisky ring, has no influence in the Senate. Whatever power he possessed at the beginning of the session has departed, and he now talks and intrigues to no purpose. When he makes a motion or offers an amendment every honest Senator regards it as his duty to vote it down. A measure must be well supported if SARGENT'S indorsement does not kill it at once. If he wants a bill passed, he either remains silent or intimates his disapprobation of it, and thus secures it supporters that his advocacy would drive to the other side. Poor AARON, like ESAU, sold his birthright for a mess of pottage; but unlike ESAU, he never secured the pottage.

DENMARK finds it necessary to advertise for office holders. If the offices of the Danes are worth having we predict an early and heavy emigration from the United States to the land of HAMLET.

Mistaken Philanthropy.

In one column the San Francisco Post prints an appeal for aid for the poor of England, and in another an account of a case of abject poverty—the almost starvation of a woman and her children in an obscure alley of that city. Out on such philanthropy; to Hades with such charity. San Francisco is full of such cases as that of this woman and her children. On every street may be found instances of want, destitution and poverty. These are left to drag on to Potter's Field, while the people are implored to give aid to the poor of England. Bosh and nonsense! Until we have cared for our own poor, let England care for hers. One-half of the vast sums taken annually from the people by the royal family of England, would, if properly expended, drive want from the island. If anyone doubts this, let them figure up the thousands and thousands of pounds which go to make up the pocket money of Queen VICTORIA'S children. This vast sum is coined from the sweat of England's subjects, and yet when England's subjects are short of bread there is no reduction in the Royal family's perquisites. While the English Parliament is voting the Duke of Edinburg ever so many thousand pounds, the Post is calling on Americans to aid the poor of England. Bah! Why does the fool-killer neglect his duty on this coast? If we had no objects of charity at home, we should say, let us help the poor of England and of the whole world; but until our journals can publish no more such cases as that of the poor woman and her children, it is mockery to send out daily appeals in behalf of foreign sufferers. Gaunt want and moaning starvation stalks through Louisiana. Let us drive these curses from our own land before we go in search of them in other nations. Let us be just at home before we are generous abroad.

SOME TIME since a Government contractor at Mare Island employed a few Chinamen. The fact was sent on to Washington and Congressman LUTTRELL took immediate steps for passing a resolution prohibiting the employment of the Chinese on Government navy yards, but he was somewhat mistaken. The resolution was voted down by Republican members, and now the contractor employs one hundred Chinamen, and will employ others as soon as he has work for them. It would be amusing to see Mare Island run by Chinamen under the management of men who are the loudest denunciators of coolie labor. Fully one-half of the work done in the Navy Yard may be performed by Chinamen, and now the contractors and bosses have the Government's sanction to employ the cheap coolie the chance for the white men to find work on Uncle Sam's ships is slight indeed.

THERE are now over fifty acres of tobacco plants growing near the race track. It is all thrifty and coming forward finely. The leaves on some of the earliest set out plants are already about eighteen inches long, and give promise of a superior article of tobacco. Dr. HOWARD, of the Los Angeles Tobacco Company, is confident the tobacco grown in this valley will prove superior to that produced by the Gilroy Company, and equal to any grown in the United States. The success attending the experiment made here has attracted the attention of a number of persons who have had some practice in the business, and next season several hundred acres of tobacco will be cultivated in this valley.

THE political pot in Nevada is boiling furiously. Uncle BILLY SHARON is fixing things so that he will be almost certain to secure STEWART'S seat in the Senate. Governor BRADLEY is a candidate for re-election, with about an even chance to get beaten. H. C. STREET of Elko is the most prominent Democratic candidate for Lieutenant-Governor. The Independent movement in this State is very weak. The contest will be close between the Democrats and the Republicans, with the chance of success on the side of the Republicans. SHARON is said to be buying up the free American voters like so many sheep. Great country, that Nevada; votes are sometimes worth five dollars apiece.

BEN. BUTLER says it will some time be written of him that he was a man whose virtues overbalanced his faults; that he loved his country and his kind, justice and nobleness. This is nearer the thing BEN should write for his epitaph: "When I am forgotten, as I shall be, and sleep in dull cold marble, when no mention of me more must be heard of—say I taught thee; say BUTLER,—that once trod the ways of glory, and sounded all the depths and shoals of honor—found thee a way, out of his wreck, to arise in; a sure and safe one, though thy master missed it. Mark but my fall, and that ruined me. I charge thee fling away ambition. Corruption wins not more than honesty."

THE Pacific Mail Steamship Company have decided to run a special line of steamers up and down the coast. It is announced that a steamer will leave San Francisco every alternate Thursday for Panama, and call at all the Mexican ports on the way. This will greatly facilitate the trade of the Southern Coast. The accommodation afforded by this arrangement will not only tend to the increase of commerce with Mexico, but will cause the founding of a number of new settlements. It will also greatly increase the coast travel.

CITY AND COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

WEDNESDAY.....JUNE 24, 1874.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

This is St. John's Day.

G. W. Morgan has money to loan. *

Partnership blanks are for sale at the HERALD office.

The Senator will sail from San Francisco Friday, June 26th.

The case of Constable Bryant comes up on Friday next in the County Court.

The stock of the Co-operative Nursery and Fruit Company is nearly all taken.

Over $500 has been collected by the Canvassing Committee for the Fourth of July celebration.

The Thirty-eight's propose to air their new uniforms in a torch-light procession next Saturday evening.

The Guards keep up their tri-weekly drills with an occasional street parade at night in preparation for the Fourth.

Our pioneer merchant, L. Morris, who left here some six weeks since, will arrive in Berlin, Germany, to-morrow.

The French Benevolent Society will give a picnic in the Arroyo Seco next Sunday. A very pleasant time is in anticipation.

An order for several barrels of Cucamongo wines and brandies was received yesterday by one of our firms, from a druggist in Michigan.

One hundred and nineteen cases of honey were received at the depot for export yesterday. The honey trade of this county is every day coming into more prominence.

The case of Meyer vs. Rath was tried in the District Court yesterday, and submitted to the jury. In the case of Ross vs. Ross, a motion to strike out a part of the answer was denied.

The case of Cayatalo Euarte against Cirrility Greenway, involving the title to a piece of land near the Mission, was on trial in the U. S. Land Office yesterday. It will doubtless be concluded to-day.

In another place will be found an advertisement of the excursion to San Fernando next Sunday. Our people need little urging to induce them to take advantage of such opportunities, and we doubt not that San Fernando will be taken by storm by our city excursionists Sunday.

Tuttle & Lee, who have rented the large and well-furnished photograph gallery of Mr. V. Wolfenstein, are turning out some of the finest photographs to be found in the country. Their work is finished in the highest style of the art, and warranted to give satisfaction to every reasonable customer. All work promptly done and terms reasonable. *tf

A carriage coming out of the stable near the Pico House yesterday came in collision with the hind wheels of a farmer's wagon standing there and completely upset it. The wagon contained a large box of eggs and they were dumped out upon the street and badly marred; in fact, they went to pot rather prematurely. No other damage was done to the farmer's property.

The case of Dolores Ruez on a charge of grand larceny was on trial in the County Court yesterday. When nearly concluded, one of the jurors made it known that he was familiar with the case beforehand, and thus invalidated the trial. The counsel had failed to put the usual questions to him before admitting him to the jury, and through this oversight the whole day's work of the Court was set at naught.

The Committees of the Fourth of July celebration met at the Court House last night and transacted some business relative to the matter in hand. A communication from Mr. Ross was received accepting the appointment as Marshal of the day, and one from the Thirty-eight's signifying their intention to participate in the celebration. The Canvassing Committee reported $470 collected, and some amounts still in the hands of members of the Committee not yet returned. The Executive Committee will meet next Friday evening at the usual place.

La Esperanza, at No. 108 Main street, is one of the largest and best appointed stores in Southern California. A full line of groceries, imported direct from the East and Europe, together with a complete stock of provisions, is kept constantly on hand and sold at bottom prices. Country produce bought, and the highest price allowed. This house is too well known to require any further commendation from us; we can only advise our friends to visit the store and see for themselves what excellent inducements are offered to customers by way of fine goods and low prices. tf-5*

It was a dapper little drug-clerk. He got a fine suit of clothes from one of our tailors on credit, with a friend for security, and then he packed up his trunk like the Arabs and as silently stole away. He left a little deficit of forty dollars, and the accommodating friend, assisted by the tailor, took interest enough in the matter to follow the young gentleman up. He was apprehended in San Buenaventura and brought back to this city, when he disgorged thirty-nine of the forty dollars due, gave up the suit, went to the lock-up besides, and altogether came out badly worsted. Remember what Dr. Franklin says, young man.

Mr. Paul Sainsevain of Old San Bernardino, formerly of Cucamongo, on his way to San Francisco on business, was in the city yesterday and favored us with a call. Mr. S. is one of the most successful viniculturists in the State. His grape crop this year promises more than an average yield, and he thinks the yield throughout the valley will be fully up to the average. The hay and barley crops have been a grand success; the corn crop looks well, and there is a promise of a good fruit yield. The wheat crop is injured with rust somewhat, and the impression is that the yield will fall twenty or twenty-five per cent. below the usual good crop.

Mr. James Stewart, proprietor of the Spadra and San Bernardino stage line, is in the city, and brings a good report from our neighboring town—San Bernardino. He reports times good, business brisk, and trade lively. His report about the crop is about the same as that of Mr. Sainsevain, from Old San Bernardino. The mining interests of that county are steadily increasing, and as a general thing promise well. We are glad to hear such good reports from our neighbors in San Bernardino. Their interests are our interests, and whatever contributes to enhance the prosperity of her people can but affect us in Los Angeles favorably.

What They Say of Us.

A correspondent of the Arizona Miner thus speaks of our place:

Los Angeles has been striding onward and upward toward metropolitanism since my last appeared in the columns of the Miner. Business is the order of the hour. No undertaking that has ever brought wealth or convenience to any section of the State, or to any section of any State, if its like is applicable here, avails to deter the spirit of local enterprise.

The ingress of Eastern people to Los Angeles is quite remarkable. They come first to pass the Winter with us. All are prompt to denounce everything governmental with which they come in contact for the first two or three months. Our city government, in many respects infamous, certainly, they cannot calmly mention; our gold and silver currency they denounce because it calls for a small rate of discount on greenbacks; they quarrel with our heathens, because they came with the impression that John would labor for ten dollars a month, and here we have to pay him $25 or $30—coin, too. At the end of four or five months however, they begin to think that they will stand it for a spell. They look upon an orange orchard and their breath comes fast and thick. Next they begin to ask about the price of land, and how much it would cost to set out some young trees, etc., and next thing we find our contumacious friend of four months ago in the ranks of the fruit-growers—a fixture in Los Angeles.

A New Variety of Wheat.

Mr. McCarty brought to our office yesterday some curious specimens of wheat grown on Mr. Beaudry's place near the city. The heads are very large, containing from seventy to eighty grains each, having on either side smaller heads protruding from the main one. The grain is small, white and flinty and heavily bearded. The stem is of usual size, but woody and solid throughout, very unlike the ordinary wheat-straw. Only a few stalks were grown, and they of their own planting so far as known. They grew in a field of ordinary wheat, and while the other was effected with rust, this grain is perfectly sound. The specimens resemble Egyptian wheat in some respects but are pronounced not of that variety by parties to whom they have been shown. We would be glad if some of our farmers would call at the HERALD office and give their opinion on the still open question. Mr. McCarty has about a quart of the grain and proposes to plant it another season so as to preserve the variety.

The Star of yesterday morning was slightly in error in its article on the cutting of timber from public lands, in which the inference was that when parties had become possessed of lands by declaration or pre-emption they were entitled to cut wood therefrom. This is not the case; and only after becoming the bona fide owner of the land by the payment of purchase money to Government, is the holder entitled to remove the timber. This should be well understood by every settler, as it involves a question of some importance and may lead numbers of settlers into difficulty, with no intention of wrong doing on their part.

The following passengers sailed per steamer Orizaba yesterday for Wilmington: M. J. Newmark and wife, James Newmark and wife, Mrs. Hawley and child, Mrs. E. Hilton, Mrs. J. J. Galvin, Mrs. Pelton, J. H. Bond, J. B. Ferguson, Frank Wheeler, E. Bouton, the Misses Inez, A. C. Gibson, Thomas Lowen, E. Grant, T. R. Taggle, Mrs. W. W. Gilman and children, C. C. Clay and wife, P. Taggle, Geo. Cartwell and son, Domingo Amesboy family and servant, G. Harronday, D. Desmond, T. E. Daley, J. F. Staples, F. E. Barry, S. D. Solomon, F. Pico, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. M. Omera.

Anton Tomansini has presented to the Library a beautiful specimen of white coral, taken from one of the small islands off the coast. It is about sixteen inches in length by four or five in width, the under side concave and the upper corresponding in shape and covered with closely set spurs or upright scales. The specimen is quite heavy, and the interior, shown where it has been broken in two, has the appearance of white quartz. The most curious thing about it is that when first taken from the water it was quite flexible but now is as hard as a piece of granite.

Tell's Seaside House is becoming a place of popular resort for the young folks of the city. On Sundays large parties go down and have a good time bathing in the surf, fishing and boat-riding. Last Sunday a boat race took place which was won by J. Keertz. The boom of the boat, commanded by Will Tell, swung around and knocked a man overboard and upset the boat, which, of course, gave the race to the other boat. Boat racing, both sailing and rowing, takes place every Sunday, and the dinners which Mr. and Mrs. Tell furnish their patrons are first-class.

Mr. George Safford, lately connected with this office in the capacity of book-keeper, left by the overland route via San Diego yesterday for Indian Wells, Arizona. He will take charge of the Government telegraph post at that place. Mr. Safford is a young man of good business tact and enterprise, and his relations with the HERALD have been eminently satisfactory and pleasant throughout. We commend him to the new field of usefulness with our best wishes.

A young Sacramento woman sued for a divorce from her husband, but according to her way of thinking her attorney was too slow, as she was in haste to marry a resident of Gold Hill. A second lawyer was engaged; the first discharged; the divorce procured, and the parties mentioned were united in wedlock. The happy couple, when about to depart from the city, were stopped by an attachment upon the newly-made husband by the first lawyer to secure legal fees.

As the Eureka stage was going into North Bloomfield Wednesday morning under full headway, an axle broke near the front wheel and threw Mr. Cunningham, the proprietor, to the ground. He was considerably bruised. No passengers were hurt.

Two young men, aged about eighteen and twenty respectively, recently captured a live California lion on Ross Mountain, Sonoma county, that measured nearly six feet from tip to tip. Not long before these boys killed a lion nine feet in length.

Only three women attended the Woodhull lecture at Vallejo. The males were a little better represented.

The Yuba City Grange numbers 140 members. Before the year closes it is expected to number 200 strong.

It is reported that the tules back of Washington are fairly alive with young ducks, which are remarkably tame.

"Indian Dick," who was arrested at Yuba City on suspicion of burning Dr. McMurtry's barn, was afterwards released.

School Marshal Tingman says the population of Sacramento has not decreased within the past year, as has been reported.

Contractor Murphy now has fifty Chinamen in his employ at the Navy Yard, and one hundred and fifty more engaged.

Fourteen car-loads of tea, eight of wool, three of syrup and one of salmon passed through Sacramento on Friday in one train.

Mr. Phails, who got his leg broken and was otherwise badly injured at Oakdale about two weeks ago, died Wednesday night.

Meridian Grange will have a Fourth of July celebration of their own, while Yuba City Grange will celebrate with Marysville.

The Sacramento Society of Pioneers have decided to have a collation on the Fourth of July. All liquors save California wines are debarred.

John Cooke, who made the murderous assault on his wife at Sacramento some time ago, has been sentenced to the State Prison for three years.

The Sacramento river during the 24 hours ending at dusk on Friday evening, receded three inches, and got down to 30 feet 4 inches. The fall in the river is having a good effect upon the sipage water of Sacramento.

Manager Piper, of Virginia City, was in Sacramento on Friday making arrangements for the leasing of the Metropolitan Theater for a portion of the Fall and Winter months.

The new officers elect of Levee District No. 1, Sutter county, are: W. P. Harkey, Collector; A. E. Clary, Assessor; and George Ohleyer, T. B. Hull and Thomas Brophy, Directors.

Owing to a brisk rivalry between the second-class hotels of Sacramento, emigrants are taken from the cars, given a dinner and conveyed back again for twenty-five cents in greenbacks.

The trade in agricultural implements at Sacramento is extensive just now. The great demand is for harvesting machines, and men have to work extra hours putting them up to fill orders.

The census figures of Yuba City foot up a total resident population of 575. There are 335 adults, 164 school children and 76 children under five years of age. Increase of school children over last year, 37.

William Bandeen of Hicksville, Sacramento county, had his divorced wife, his son and two others arrested a few days ago for making threats against his life. The accused have been acquitted, and all is now quiet at Hicksville.

Good Templar's Wine.

The Stockton Independent tells of a new kind of wine, made by James Smyth, who resides a few miles from that city. It is described as a simple and very successful process of making a light quality of sweet unintoxicating wine. The juice is pressed from the fruit in the ordinary way, and then placed in a huge vat or tank, carefully boiled, and the impurities skimmed off as they rise to the surface. After the juice thus treated becomes cool, it is placed in bottles, as may be desired, and then stowed away for use. He has tried this process during the last two years, and finds that there is no trouble whatever in keeping the wine thus made. So well pleased is he with the process that he proposes to make all his wine, hereafter, in the same manner. By the boiling process it does not become necessary to rack off the wine, as it is perfectly clear and free from all impurities as soon as the operation is completed. The wine thus made, he says, is wholly free from intoxicating qualities, and is a beverage to the use of which on the table the most rigid temperance advocate could not reasonably object.

The Portland City Election.

The Oregonian of June 16th says: "The municipal election of Portland passed off remarkably quiet. A more orderly and peaceable election has not transpired in this city for some years. Scarcely a brawl or street-fight disturbed the equanimity of public feeling, and but very few intoxicated persons were observed. There was much hard, earnest work done by both parties; but good feeling characterized the day's proceedings. It is needless to add that the contest resulted in the triumphant election of every man on the People's ticket, over which every good citizen who earnestly desires reform and retrenchment of the city government and the reduction of taxation, will have reason to rejoice." The total vote of the city was 1,745, and the aggregate majority for the Independent ticket was 549.

In the late Ashantee war, in regions where the drinking water was notoriously unwholesome, sulphate of alumina was added to the water, and by this means the organic and other impurities were precipitated, leaving the water colorless and perfectly wholesome. The same principle applies to all impure water, and should be remembered and acted upon where it may be found needful.

Effects of the North Wind in Yolo.

The Yolo Mail of the 18th instant says: "The very strong and sometimes severe north wind, which commenced blowing on Sunday night, June 7th, ceased on Sunday, June 14th. We note this particularly, because it is one day ahead of anything of the kind for length of time, which has happened since we have been in the town of Woodland—five years. We have known of its blowing six days in succession, but never before for seven. A part of this time the wind was comparatively cool; but on Friday, Saturday and Sunday last the heat was intense—the thermometer on Sunday reaching as high as 102 degrees in the shade. The effect of this wind has been to mature the early wheat very rapidly and to injure some of the late by a premature ripening. The harvest has been hastened at least a week, and we may expect to hear of a busy time, in consequence of the scarcity of help. We have paid particular attention to one field of wheat near town, of some one hundred acres, which one week ago looked green and growing, but now exhibits a golden hue and is ready for the header. Much of the grass, which looked green upon the ground when the wind commenced, is now as dry as tinder and would be good food for the flames. The alfalfa alone has stood the dreadful scourge. It may, for a day or two, look sickly under such a severe parching, but recuperates in a very short time.

Talk of growing grain is over for this year. Spring is ended, and Summer opens with golden treasure. Never has there been so much said by the press of the growing crops as during the Spring just closed. It seemed that the papers vied with each other in showing up the condition of the crops. Much of the late grain, which it was thought would not pay for the cutting, will yield from twelve to fifteen bushels to the acre, and some not expected to go over this amount will go eighteen to twenty bushels per acre. The average crop will be fully twenty-five bushels to the acre. Much of our grain will make forty bushels. —[Sutter Banner.

The new bank which is to be started under the auspices of the California Grangers, has a nominal capital of $5,000,000, of which $700,000 has been paid in. The institution is to be under the control of A. F. Walcott, of E. Morgan's Sons, and will be located in the premises lately held by the Merchant's Exchange Bank, on California street.

Suit has been brought for the possession of the Great Western Quicksilver mine, Lake county, against the present holders by parties claiming a prior location. The mine is valued at $2,000,000.

PIPIFAX.

This remarkable curative herbal preparation is entirely unlike and greatly superior to any other recuperant ever discovered.

It strengthens the living vital nervaure principle, and gives energy to the muscles, nerves, filaments, membranes, and all tissues of the internal organs.

PIPIFAX—Keeps the skin in a supple condition; the cuticle pliant; the pores open; and brings the blood to the surface; thereby enabling the system to counteract these baneful atmospheric influences.

PIPIFAX—Passes through the blood, carries off by prespiration and other excretions the effete and injurious materials of the body. It is soothing, alterative and deferative. Used methodically and rationally, aided by suitable diet, it produces most important changes in the system, contributing to the reconstruction of tissues, and removes vitiated matter which has become not only useless but injurious. No other article has ever been introduced which combines in such an extraordinary degree the principles of an efficient antibilious agent and tonic. Try it and be convinced. mr29 3m—20

The Reno, Nevada, Journal of June 19th has the following:

The case of the State of Nevada vs. the Central Pacific Railroad Company, for the collection of delinquent taxes for the year 1871, which has occupied the attention of the District Court for the past two days, terminated last night, the jury returning a verdict for the plaintiffs for the full amount claimed—$30,780 80. The railroad will undoubtedly appeal the two cases decided against them to the Supreme Court, but we are pretty sure that tribunal will affirm the action of the District Court.

The spirit of investigation may be pushed too far, as it was in the case of an organ-grinder's boy at Elizabeth, N. J., the other day. This enterprising youth discovered a box of compound cathartic pills in an ash-barrel, and, mistaking them for some rare confection, bolted the entire lot, while the old man was grinding away on "Whisper what thou feelest." The boy did'nt answer the inquiry directly, but his remarks gave the Elizabeth people a good idea of the power of the Italian language.

A young man who was married in Detroit six months ago, has joined in the discussion of the question of family economy, but his little contribution is far from satisfactory. "I do not," he says, "understand how it is. I used to figure it out as I sat with my arm around her waist on Sunday nights, and all it would then cost to live would be two dollars and seventy-five cents a week, and now I spend fifteen dollars. and am hungry half the time." Brute!

R. F. Jackson, of Wisconsin, who visited Oregon last Spring examining the prospect for introducing blooded sheep, is on his way to Oregon with three car loads of pure-blood Spanish-Merino sheep.
